

Liam Titcomb

Liam Titcomb grew up backstage so, not a surprise, when he signed to Sony Music when he was 15. His self titled debut on Columbia garnered a Canadian Music Radio Awards nomination for the Best New Solo Artist 2005 with Top 10 & 20 singles. His sophomore album Can't Let Go recorded in Nashville earned rave reviews across the country.

“...like a strong pull on an engine cord — it fires up right away and never stops sparking. ...what lingers is Titcomb’s utterly captivating voice, lyrics and distinctive musical energy...”

Liam’s relationship with War Child started in 2003, when his song “War” became part of the Peace Songs album which included Bruce Cockburn, Elvis Costello, Paul McCartney, Leonard Cohen etc. He has always been honored to take part in any of War Child’s projects like the Busking For Change events that took place last year. He was thrilled to be able to step up to the plate and Busk Coast to Coast this past summer.

For as long as he can remember he has been conscious of the power of music to bring joy, spark awareness and create change. For Titcomb, fundraisers are a staple diet – he was raised on them. Remembering one Christmas day, age 11 and playing music outside in 10 degree weather for the homeless people of Toronto’s Tent City, he jokes about “what it might have been like to have been raised in a less socially conscious environment”.

Titcomb believes that “Every one of us can make a difference – if we try. This tour is NOT about celebrity – it is about you and me helping out a little where we can. Want to join the TEAM and see what we can do together?”
